

Kennedy Mmasi
SDG Investment Lead
UNDP Financial Centres for Sustainability
(FC4S) Network

- Kennedy is a results-oriented programme manager with more than 5 years of experience in sustainable finance, management consulting, financial management and risk management.
- Over the past 5 years, he has focused on quantitative and economic policy analysis, policy engagements with the private and public sectors, fundraising strategy and performance optimisation with executives, convening investors on climate-related projects, and monitoring and evaluation of capacity building projects.
- Kennedy holds a bachelor's degree in economics from Harvard University as well as a master's degree in international finance and trade from the Graduate Institute Geneva.